How to find us

SATNAV: LU7 4TN

The Leighton Buzzard Railway is within an hour's travel of millions of people. It is only some 40 miles (65km) from central London, and within easy reach of most places in the northern Home Counties and southern Midlands.

The M1 and A5 roads are just minutes away, and the main line from London Euston and the Grand Union Canal both pass through the town.

Trains start from Page's Park station, which is on the south side of Leighton Buzzard, on Billington Road towards Hemel Hempstead. From the town centre, follow the brown steam train signs, turning into our entrance at the end of the public park.

From the A505/A4146 bypass, turn towards Leighton Buzzard at the roundabout signposted "Narrow Gauge Railway". Our entrance is on the right, after the second of two more roundabouts. Car and coach parking is free of charge, although prior notice of coaches is appreciated.

Leighton Buzzard main-line station is on the other side of the town, approximately 2 miles (3km) away. London Midland runs regular trains to and from London Euston, Watford Junction, Hemel Hempstead, Milton Keynes, Northampton, and on to Birmingham and Crewe. Southern trains now provide a direct link with Clapham Junction and East Croydon. For service information, call 08457 48 49 50.

Bus service D1 runs from the main line station, canal and town centre, and past Page's Park Station (not Sundays or Bank Holidays)
For service information, call 0871 200 2233

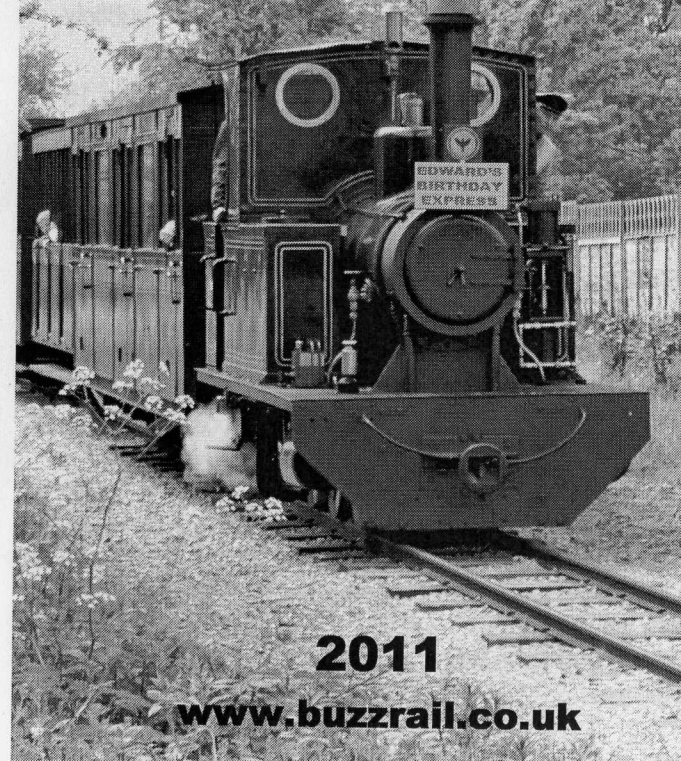

A little extra help

Customers with limited mobility have priority parking at Page's Park station, and facilities for wheelchair users include a special toilet in the buffet building, plus accommodation with the rest of their party in adaptable coaches. Advance notification is appreciated. We are committed to helping all customers with special requirements enjoy their visit.

For families with small children, nappy-changing facilities and high chairs are available in the buffet building at Page's Park station. Buggies can usually be accommodated in the Guard's compartment, for your convenience while travelling. We also welcome well behaved pets.
